

Best Wishes for a Peaceful and Inclusive 2018 from the TAAP Partners!

As we head in to 2018, we take a moment to reflect on how advancing inclusion – the process of improving the ability, opportunity and dignity of people, disadvantaged on the basis of their identity, to take part in society – can contribute to more peaceful and just societies. And to appreciate our good fortune in joining with people like you around the world who are dismantling the structures that perpetuate inequality, discrimination, and injustice.

Best Regards,

World Learning, IREX, HelpAge, Leonard Cheshire Disability, MIUSA and Women's Refugee Commission

Good Reads to Start Off the New Year:

1. Is your country LGBTI inclusive? With better data, we'll know. <http://blogs.worldbank.org/opendata/your-country-lgbti-inclusive-better-data-we-ll-know>
2. Building a Better Response to Sexual Assault. Check out this Devex webinar on responding to — and preventing — sexual harassment and assault at work.
3. I See You. Enjoy this beautiful blog from Thousand Currents about the joy and dignity that comes with having our fundamental wholeness validated, and our hidden selves acknowledged.

Wishing you all a 2018 where you are seen and where you find joy in seeing others.

Photo: from "I see you," Thousand Currents © 2018

Got Inclusion?

We want to hear from you! Please share your inclusion activities, success stories, upcoming events, and intriguing resources. Send to TAAP@worldlearning.org

New to TAAP? Read past newsletters and learn more by clicking here.

Click here to subscribe to the TAAP Tuesday Newsletter.